Committee Reports To Recent Grand Jury

Herewith are the committee reports submitted to the recent grand jury and referred to in the formal presentations of that body published last week:

April Grand Jury Report, 1947

C. M. Graham, J. Dan Lanier, J. M. Smith being the committee appointed by the last grand jury to make inspection of the county prison camp and make an inventory of the county's prison property, submit the following report:

We found forty-four men in the public works camp, thirty-three negroes and eleven whites; forty sentenced by the state and four sentenced by the county. All men were well and on the road at work.

We found all equipment to be in good condition and very little depreciation noted.

We commend Mr. Ellis, our county warden, for the splendid work he is doing for our county in the upkeep of our new and modern prison camp, and we wish to thank him for assisting in this inspection.

BRANNEN—GILLIS
Much interest centers in the marriage of Miss Daisy Pearl Brannen to Woodrow Clayton Gillis, which took place Saturday, October 18, at 8:00 o'clock in Savannah, Rev. J. Walter Hendricks performed the impressive double-ring ceremony at his residence in the presence of a few relatives and close friends. The bride chose for her wedding a beige suit with a navy blouse and other navy accessories. A strand of pearls was her only ornament. An orchid corsage completed her costume. Mrs. Willis is the daughter of Pleasant E. Brannen Sr. and the late Mrs. Daisy Alice Brannen, of this county, but for the past few years has made her home in Savannah, where she has been employed at Mordene Furniture Co. as bookkeeper.

Mr. Gillis is the son of Clayton Gillis, of Enterprise, Ala., and the late Mrs. Mollie Brookler Gillis, formerly of Superior, Ga. He served several years in the army, part of which time was spent in the European theater of operations. He is now employed at Dearing Chevrolet Co., Savannah.

After a wedding trip to Miami and other points in Florida, Mr. and Mrs. Gillis are now at home at 20 west 10th street, Savannah.

AT SAVANNAH CONCERT
Among those from Statesboro in Savannah Saturday evening for Madama Butterfly, opening concert of the All-Star series, were Mrs. E. L. Barnes, Mrs. Roger Holland, Mrs. C. B. Mathews, Mrs. J. O. Johnston, Mrs. E. W. Barnes, Miss Sue Snipes, Jack Averitt, Miss Addie Dunaway, Miss Frieda Gernant, Mr. and Mrs. Loy Waters, Mrs. Gilbert Cone, Harriett and Gilbert Cone Jr., Barbara Ann Jones, John C. Brannen Jr., Mrs. Verdie Hilliard, Mrs. Waldo Floyd, Miss Marie Wood, Dr. and Mrs. Ronald Nell, Mrs. Jack Brockue, Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Winburn and others.
